

Appointment of IOB's new CE

The Institute of Bankers in South Africa (IOB) welcomes its new Chief Executive, Bahle Goba, who joined the Institute at the beginning of September 2008.

Bahle offers the IOB a wealth of experience and expertise gained during her extensive career of working as a consultant and her time in the Financial Services Sector. Before joining the Institute, Bahle was an independent management consultant specializing in Organisation and People Management. Prior to that, she was a General Manager: Corporate Services for one of the South African Airlines.

Bahle is a founding member of and was an Executive Director at one of the leading black management consulting firms, Nokusa Consulting for 7 years. At Nokusa Consulting she was responsible for Human Resources, Marketing, Business Development, Project Management and Practice Development. Bahle started her consulting career at Standard Bank South Africa and later joined Andersen Consulting (now Accenture). During her tenure at Standard Bank, she was an Organisation Development Consultant in the Education and Training Department, also delivering the IOB's Communications course.

Bahle worked as a Business Analyst at Olin HTH International and IBM in the USA. She is a non-executive director of a large financial institution. In 2004 Bahle was appointed by the Minister of Finance to serve as a member of the Committee that Revises the Banks Acts. She is also a member of the Inanda Seminary Board of Governors.

Bahle was born and bred in Kagiso in Mogale City. She holds a Bcom degree from Indiana University of Pennsylvania and a Masters in Business Administration from Hood College, in the USA. She completed her high school education at Indana Seminary in KZN.

Ends.

For further information please contact Debbie Seccombe, Head: Marketing on debbie@iob.co.za or 011 481 7034